What method of development is better suited to my particular project?

This page includes several examples of each sort of website that may suit your project:

WordPress Website

- Small static website (landing/home page of your business, portfolio for your works)
- Particularly recommended for the overwhelming majority of E-commerce websites
- Small blog or small news website

Fully Customized website

- More complex static website (complex animations, transitions, fonts, layouts...)
- Social media platform: User authentication, profile specific data, real-time interactions...
- Small-scale e-commerce: Few products (less than 10) and moderately consistent pricing
- Larger blogs that will have a wider audience and demand additional speed optimizations.

Hybrid Headess CMS website (a hybrid solution)

- Ideal if your website simply needs readers who are interested in your posts or articles.
- Best suited for large blogs, news outlets, presentation/portfolio website...
- Ideal if multiple editors worked concurrently on various articles and topics.

If you have any concerns regarding the cost and completion time of your project, don't be hesitant to ask any questions at info@ojxwebdev.com for clarifications.